SYILX HUCKLEBERRY

The huckleberry mountain tops immersed us back 10,000 years. The Huckleberry plant is sacred and timeless. They are our relatives and they remind us that timix ~ “every living thing” —in our territory intersects with syilx people. This virtual reality transformative journey shares our xaxa sacred bush of the Huckleberry. The pollinator flying around is the critically endangered sacred Monarch Butterfly. The Monarch fly from Canada to Mexico. We the syilx people honor and protect this plant and pollinator.
